OTHER DYNAMITE VICTIM RECOVERS

Tells Vivid Story of how Explosion Actually Occured. Saw Danger too Late to Make his Escape. Recovery now Assured.

Clair Stine, who was seriously injured in a dynamite explosion on his farm, near Abbottstown, on April 8th, will likely be sufficiently recovered to warrant his dismissal from the York Hospital in a few days. He is now able to give a clear story of the accident.

He says that he saw it was going to take place before hand, but was unable to get away. Amos Eichhour, the man who was killed, had just lighted the fuse on a charge which was in the ground, and instead of throwing the match away, he held it in his hand until the end fell into the tin bucket, in which were seven or eight full sticks of dynamite. Mr. Stine says he saw the head of the match burn off and fall into the bucket, and knew what was coming. Shouting was no his knees leaning over the bucket and Mr. Stine, who was less than ten feet away, saw smoke coming from it. Instantly came the flash and he plainly saw the body of Eichhour blown into the air—a sight he will never forget.

By main force of grit Mr. Stine is fast improving and despite the loss of his left leg, which was amputated above the knee, he is very cheerful.

The attendants of the hospital, who had given him up, state that if his condition continues to improve, he may leave the hospital on Saturday, just a few days over two weeks since being admitted as a hopeless case.

Department Store Assn.

In an endeavoring like a department store the satisfaction and pride of the owners and clerks in the place is recognized as one of its real assets. There have been frequent demonstrations of the injury that incompetence and heartless treatment of women can do a business if it is noted abroad.—Ida M. Tarbell in the American Magazine.

HOUSE DEFEATS OPTION BILL

Brumbaugh Measure Loses, 128 to 78.

ONLY ONE FAILED TO VOTE

The Result is Regarded by Some as Reproof to Governor's Efforts to Coerce Members.

Harrisburg, April 23.—The Wilson option bill was defeated by the house of representatives by a vote of 128 to 78.

In the hardest fought, most spectacular and most dramatic struggle native of years, which easily took up the time of the session, the measure was made, praemedically, to shake off the Spear business, a struggle in feat was administered to Governor Brumbaugh, who had pinned his faith to the bill's success all, and had exhausted every effort to get it through the house.

The ins and outs and after the two born irritatingly act salds for debate had been switched, by parliamentary tactics into nearly four hours.

Only one member failed to vote, James Maurer, of Reading, president of the State Federation of Labor and the only Socialist in the house.

The vote received by local option was five less than for the bill in 1915, when the vote was: Ayes, 82; noes, 121. In 1915 the vote on local option was: Ayes, 79; noes, 127.

After the vote was announced, Senator Penrose, of Philadelphia, sent out the following statement:

"I always regarded local option as a moral question and not a political one. I have always felt that the members of the legislature should decide it for themselves in accordance with the wishes of their constituents and the dictates of their own consciences for that reason I left the matter entirely with them.

"Sympathetic with Governor Brumbaugh in the position he has taken in regard to this license measure, I have been and will be found supporting his plan. The governor has understood my position thoroughly from the start."

Every one of the 207 members of the house was in his seat when the roll call vote was atcken. The vote was announced by Speaker Ambler as announced by Speaker Ambler.

The vote was announced in the transition of D. Clarence Gibboney, of Philadelphia, "No," and Thomas Marshall, who compensated for financial losses when he changed from a vote of "aye" to "no" as the people was manifested in the fact that a number of members, generally against the Williams bill, advocated the compromise measure, the only embodying Gibboney's ideas is before the legislature in official form.

The result was generally regarded as a reproof to Governor Brumbaugh for his political efforts to coerce members of the house to vote for the bill. Most of the opponents of the bill had estimated that the governor would be able by threats to secure a safety majority for it, while many allowed him ninety in their estimations. The vote was far short of these estimates of its opponents' vote was reached at anything. The failure of Senator Vare to make a public statement for or against the bill was regarded by many as having considerably weakened it. The vote by members' free to vote as they felt.

DROP BOMBS ON POLISH TOWN

Tsar Germs Aircraft Kill and Wound Thirty-Seven Persons.

Petrograd, April 23.—Ten German aeroplanes raided the town of Bielystok, in Russian Poland, today, and dropped bombs southwest of Grodno, Thursday more than 100 bombs.

The Russian war office's statement on the air raid follows:

"Our aviators successfully bombarded the railroad station at Soloau, on the Polish frontier in East Prussia."

C., April 23. — Dean Baker, of April University of South Carolina, announced that Oscar Phelan, the college's crack athlete, would not be allowed to compete with the team in the meet with the University of Pennsylvania, Philadelphia. To Be Lived Through.

Life has been good to me, and as I look back over the years I can see seems more precious than the thought that I have been permitted to do deep things in the lives of other men and women. The big, splendid things for one's self (we learn by sad and bitter experience) are not to be lived through. It is wonderful to be loved and and ask nothing of it save its wise continuance. "Disciples" by David Grayson in the American Magazine.

Wanted Information.

Little Miss Lula Bell pulled and her proud parents accorded her the privilege of ringing the bell for dinner one day. Margaret answered the phone and when she was asked to call mother at the other end of the wire to call her big brother to dinner, little Miss Margaret knew that Will was sleeping upstairs and she did not like to disturb him needlessly, so she asked: "Is it anything very particular?"

Laughter.

An old writer, John Bulwer, in his "Philocophus (Deafe) and Philologus (Partes-man's friend)," says: "That true laughter hath both the effects of the intellectual part as the principles of reason, viz., the cause of the motion and contraction of the countenance and the dilatation of the midriff, or the whole body, but tutius conjunct of the whole man."

With the intention of establishing a "colony" for retired ministers, it is announced that the real estate tract, bordering on the Fairfield Road, and adjoining the Theological Seminary, will be divided into lots and held until next October for any former residents of the institution who may desire to build home there. The land is owned by Martin Winter.

Mr. Winter has issued a letter which is being sent to the several hundred graduates of the Seminary, pointing out the advantages of the site and the terms of purchase. It is said that the Fairfield Road on which the lots have their frontage "has been taken over by the National Park Commission and has been macadamized, affording at all times a good road for vehicle or foot travel to the concrete walks leading from Seminary Ridge into town". He states that borough water and gas will be extended to the lots as soon as building operations begin, and that electric light will be extended shortly.

Concrete sidewalks five feet in width, curbs, grass plots, curb and gutter of concrete, will be constructed when lots are built upon, the cost to be paid by purchaser of the lot.

There are on the south side of the road fifteen lots 80 x 180. Five of these with alley in rear, and on the north side ten lots of the same size and there lots on each side of the road are corner lots. They are offered to the ministers for a limited time only, the price asked being $5.00 a front foot, except those corner lots which the price will be $5.50.

There are also five lots for sale on the same plan fronting on the two streets extending south through this tract of land and also fronting on the road leading to the Springs Hotel. These lots are offered on a somewhat raised road, they will be about 150 to 140 feet in depth and forty feet fronting on street, the price to be sold in lots fronting 60, 60, 80 or 100 feet at $5.00 per foot.

WILL ARRANGE THE SCHEDULE

Blue Ridge League Meeting soon to be Held at which Final Arrangements for Six Team Circuit will be Made.

With the announcement that Hagerstown has decided on the grounds proposition, word is expected from President Boyer at any time as to regard to a league meeting when many matters of importance will be officially taken up, including the arrangement of a schedule.

Manager Bowman new manager of the Hanover base ball team has had a busy week getting his players and recommending a very good shortstop for the Hanover team. At present this man is in the South. On account of his home being at Trenton, N. J., he would like to get some games with an expect in the base ball situation in Hanover. Manager Jack Morrison reports this Saturday. The popular Shippensburg manager has notified the officials that he will report on May 1 and the fans are anxiously awaiting what Shippensburg will then be made in regard to players. It was primarily intended to take him on May 15, which date has been stipulated in the contract between Shippensburg and Hanover. However there is much to be done and as the league has plunged into the season, Manager Morrison has left his physician. He was not feeling well when he left and was unable to be about the house all day.

On Thursday morning he arose as well as he complained of feeling very weak. He was soon seized with a chill and was unconscious for several hours. Dr. Smith was called and a physician from Hanover was summoned but he was pronounced dead. Mr. Hagerstown team has summer the Herald of Blue says: "Everybody's neighbor towns for the Blue Ridge league, come your protests and pleadings. If Hagerstown has been somewhat slow, ultimate development will more than compensate for any delay and consequent anxiety on the part of the baseball cranks. Hagerstown will have a base ball park second to none and Manager Boyer will put a team there that will have a team to compete with the best in the league."

The Chambersburg Baseball Club has signed the major portion of its players and the team will be in the league by the time the season opens. It is going to come up to the limit permitted by the Blue Ridge league, the directors figure on using some quite high priced men, doubting them up in the outfield. One of them is an old Cumberland Valley player who is not an catcher and out-fielder. Another is out of Syracuse, N. Y., a professional shortstop. Binghampton has been after him and came mighty near getting him. Another player is also signed are Martin Wolfsome, who is one of the best players in the league, and loue leagues around Philadelphia and is an out-fielder and utility man. He for over five years, and during his active life was a member of the legislature from the Adams County and represented this district in Congress.

Upon the election of Samuel McC. Swope to the bench in 1894, Judge McClean again resumed his active practice and continued in his active to the time of his death.

LIGHTNING BOLT FROM RAIN SPOUT

County Woman Rendered Unconscious as Electricity Follows Telephone Wire and then is Conducted By Spouting.

Mrs. Edward Klunk, residing at Mt. Rock, was struck during one of the severe electrical storms which visited this county, and was stunned for a short time. One of her hands and her side were slightly burned.

During the early part of the storm Mrs. Klunk had gone out to connect the spout on the house with the rain water barrel. A telephone wire touched the spouting near the roof and acted as a conductor. The shock was received by the unfortunate woman, as she held the spout in her hand, when the lightning flashed.

Mrs. Klunk fell to the ground, where she was soon picked up and carried into the house. It was several hours before she again regained consciousness. She has now fully recovered from the shock.

MANY DEEDS OF KINDNESS DONE

Visited the Sick, Provided Delicacies, Ministered to those in Jail. Local Organization Warned of Certain Kinds of "Sodas".

The regular meeting of the W. C. T. U. was held at Mrs. MeAllister's home, High street, Wednesday afternoon with a good attendance. After the usual routine business and election of officers reports from several superintendents of departments were given.

For the sake of the inspiration it affords visitors to do likewise, the president urged the members hereafter to fill up their reports with acts of kindness and hand to the superintendent of the Flower Mission.

The report of Mrs. Philip Houck on jail work was most interesting because of the appreciation of the inmates, many of whom write to Mrs. Houck. It would be well to jail work, thanks, tell of their desire to do better and live better lives.

Prof. Brumbaugh, superintendent of temperance Sunday School work, gave the report of the year's work. It drop habit being formed by the indulgence in sodas. Much surprise was expressed that "Coca Cola" is a drink at a refreshing "soda" could be weighted with alcohol. It would seem that pure food laws would restrain such commerce, in anything sold as a beverage to minors. Mrs. Brumbaugh's examples of literature to be used in Sunday schools, and during the short period in them all that could be devoted to this department of Temperance.

ON LONG TRIP

Will Install Plant at Cashtown Residence.

A motorcycle having an extra seat attachment will leave Gettysburg on the morning of May 2, carrying Miss Effie Hotchkiss and her mother, Mrs. Avis Hotchkiss, for a visit to Denver. It will be the Panama-Pacific Exposition City that the motorcycle party will follow the Lincoln Way through Gettysburg.

The trip will be made solely on the motorcycle. The gathering of supplies for the journey is now in progress at the home of Mrs. Hotchkiss. The time the trip will take is of no consequence to Miss Effie, as there will be no hurry and every town reached will be studied. Blankets, batteries, canned food and the material for setting up a tent will be taken along, as it is proposed to live in the open as much as possible. Miss Hotchkiss, it is said is an expert about motorcycles, and her mother is confident that Effie will be able to remedy any damage to the machine on the trip.

Weather Man.

There is no "thoroughly reliable weather man," the government "forecasts" are fairly safe for a certain number of hours, but as far the predictions that include the entire year, or any considerable part of it, they are not worth the paper they are printed on. They may be all right, they may be all wrong. Nobody knows which.

TOWN INVENTOR SECURES PATENT

Appliance to Mend Steel Tapes, Designed to Save Many Hours' Work for Engineers, Product of Gettysburg Man's Mind.

Edgar M. Hewitt, of Gettysburg, has secured a patent for an invention which is likely to prove of great value to surveyors and civil engineers throughout the country. Mr. Hewitt for some years has been connected with that part of the National Park Commission work and it was in this occupation that he discovered the need which his invention is intended to meet.

The patent has been secured on a tape clamp and is designed for mending temporarily steel tapes which are badly used in all surveying work. They frequently tear, throwing out of employment, some times for an entire day, a gang of six or eight surveyors, who may have to return to their base until a new tape can be secured. Other efforts have been made to remedy appliances which will mend quickly these tapes but none has yet been found which will hold.

Mr. Hewitt's appliance is a small brass contrivance made in the form of an oblong. The broken pieces are inserted from either end and held tightly in position by a bolt which can be turned with an ordinary pocketknife. The contrivance is small and easily carried, and as made then, the tape need be shortened as little as a tenth of an inch after which the work may proceed with a delay which need not exceed two minutes.

Thousands of steel tapes are used in this country every year and doubtless scores of them break while surveying gangs are at work. It is believed that there will be great demand for Mr. Hewitt's invention, after it is placed on the market. It is his intention rather to sell the patent rights, than to attempt to make the clamps himself.

The application for patent was pending since last July and notice of its having been granted has just now been received.

CHILD KILLED IN FALL FROM CRIB

Little Tot Thrown to Floor when Crib Tilts. Neck Broken and Death Results at once. Found by his Mother.

With his neck broken, the lifeless body of Raymond Harry Laughman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Noah Laughman, of Orrtanna, was found on the floor of his home Saturday afternoon. The child was about one year old.

Mrs. Laughman had put her two children to sleep about one o'clock and then went down stairs to do some work. About half past three she went up again to attend to the children and was horrified to find the younger one lying on the floor. When she picked up the child she found it cold in death, in the odd manner that caused a shock, which it is believed caused the sad accident.

The cradle—one of the old fashioned kind with rockers—had been placed not far from a door, and it is believed that the child was startled by the bright key and tried to get it. With the result that the cradle tilted and threw the child to the floor. A physician, who was summoned, found that the neck had been broken. The parents and the other child survive.

The funeral was held on Monday at eight o'clock from the house. Interment was made in Fisher's cemetery.

The Unarmed Ranchman

By JOHN TURNLEE

When MacDougall left his home in Edinburgh for the wild west in Americo to engage in ranching he was looked on as somewhat fatlee an evey lived. Nothing troubled him so much as to be known as a Scotch easy one. On the day of his departure one of his friends said to him:

"It seasm to me, Mac, that you will be out of your element in a country where there is no necessity for you to defend your honor."

"Oh, I won't be troubled," was the reply. "I'll not be looked on as a gull. I say one offendo me and I have to fight him. I'll not be considered a coward to do sons work. WEALTHY, STOLE FOR LIVING

Two Women Even Furlished Chickens to Their Boarding House.

Mrs. Rose Schlisbel and Mrs. Esther Cohen, two women who gave their names, have been sentenced to ten months in the Eastern Penitentiary by Judge Audenried.

Detective Frank Cassese said both had long careers as shoplifters, nearly every large store in Philadelphia has passed to the use of firearms, but if you are caught in the act of shoplifting you will be afforded in the row with data I shall be obliged to use.

"Then kind o' fightin' may do for a while," he said, "but I'll tell you what we're used to in this country. When we fight we fight to a finish with guns.

With that he rode away.

MacDonnell told about this stirkck kindly. Several of its employees, including the cook, had contracted the torment of abuse betspet upon him, while his brother, Jim, was left in obloquy of having taken it without a fight. Besides, he knew that such a fight would be to the death, and he feared that the community would not stand for it while MacDonnell should be made up his mind that he must follow the example of his brother. The day after the bunch the 42 caliber revolver of the Winchester pattern in his hip.

Fortunately he did not happen to meet Hawkins for some time. When he did it was in the main street-back of the grazing lands. Men were passing over a bridge that led with a loading around no almost perpendicular cliff. MacDonnell was on one of his herders. Suddenly turning a bend, he came face to face with Hawkins. Prior to face and not ten feet apart. Hawkins had a rifle in his hands.

MacDonnell was a very different man from the one who had left his ranch a year before. He had been through many fights since then, and he carried till he was ready to fight to the death. He was not afraid to die, but he was very quick to his movements, and before Hawkins had quite taken in the situation he had his own gun covered and had the drop on his enemy.

"Mr. Hawkins," he said, "it's trouble you to ask the men behind you to raise you of your hands. I have you fair over the cliff."

Hawkins made no reply for a few moments, glaring at his antagonist, who, however, kept his eyes keenly.

"Is that case I'll drop your dead body over with a ball in it."

Still Hawkins and MacDonnell's glared sad the menace of his revolver a little longer, then told the men behind him to obey the order. His revolver was dropped to the ground.

It was followed by Mac's weapon, which he returned to its holster.

"I now propose a wrestling match, Mr. Hawkins," he said, "in which I throw one over after my revolver you throw me over after yours.

"I decline certain death for both," said Hawkins.

"Then turn around with your party and go back."

He made no reply for some time. It was quite a distance to a place where the parties would have plenty of room to pass. Presently he turned and directed the party to go back.

MacDonnell never replaced the revolver he had thrown over the cliff, but his replacement was never needed

FISHERMEN SAY TROUT ARE FEW

Plan to Restock Marsh Creek and Other Streams in this County. Local Anglers Have but Little Success. The Reasons.

Fishermen who have whipped Adams County streams for trout during the past few weeks say that there is a deplorable shortage of the game fish which for years was the sportsmans' so many happy hours. But the reasons as have been made so and these are nearly all small, and all seem inch trout being the usual size caught. Various theories are advanced to account for the scarcity.

"In the first place our streams have not been restocked for the past two or six years. The fish now being caught are from a year to two old, but they are the natural stock, and no outside replenishment has been made for a long time. The first fall of any trout season is closed there are men and boys who fish for suckers and eels. Without question many of these also take trout and, as a result, the streams are lessened by the slightest degree.

Charles Carbaugh, of Cashtown, who has been notified by Deputy Game Stokes Fish Commissioner that this year no seines there is to be discharging brook trout to be planted in Marsh Creek and the streams that run into it. BAND HOLDS ITS LAST PRACTICE

And Gettysburg's Parade on May Thirty First will be without Music unless Citizens Come to the Rescue, Declare Members.

Memorial Day without a band! That is the condition which confronts Gettysburg as the result of a decision, reached Monday evening after the regular practice of the Citizens' Band, when it was agreed that further citizenship be held. George Coulter, leader for the past several months, has left for Detroit, and the members departed for their homes with the understanding that work for the spring and summer was at an end, and Gettysburg is now without an organization to furnish music on public occasions.

"It was all going out and nothing coming in", one member said next morning. "We had plenty of expenses and no money to meet them. Instead of financing cannot be kept up indefinitely. Last year a committee of personally paid the leader for his services for many weeks past. We received no other help. A call was issued for instruments is estimated, explain that the band was without money in the treasury.

"We never have any opportunity to make money. Wherever we are asked to play for local events, it is with the understanding that it is to be out charge. The last time we made any money was brought our services was at the time of the Wadsworth memorial dedication, and there is nothing like that in the near future. Then there was really nothing for us to do but simply to quit."

Other members of the band cannot understand the exact reason for the attitude of citizens, but they also say their support. They say that most other bands are in the same fix, they are heartily and substantially supported, but the band must to a great extent work for its own publicity.

Unless some action is taken there will either be no music on Memorial Day or a band will have to be secured from out of town. The money received for the band will go our own bond a substantial life. The members are of the opinion that little to try to remedy matters, that while support is not forthcoming at present, so far as they are concerned, the organization is done.

The instruments, the band will pay the outstanding debt, it is told, and it is believed that it will not be held here in the hope that some one will come to the rescue.

RING IS AGAIN AFTER BULL CAFE

Others Two Hundred Dollars More than Former Sole Price. Former Gettysburg Hotel Man Stops Court's Contrivention.

The proposed transfer of the liquor license of the A. C. Bull cafe, in York, from Charles E. Bull, administrator of the estate of the late A. C. Bull to G. Curtis Heln, was held up by the Quarter Sessions court on the offer of J. A. Ring, lessee of the Hotel Brooks, to pay $200 more for the license than the figure at which Mr. Helb bid them in at the public sale.

The court ordered Mr. Ring to produce a certified check for $400 to guarantee that he will fulfill making the offer, and in the meantime a rule was granted on all parties to show cause why the offer of Mr. Ring should not be accepted. The argument in the case will be heard next Friday.

Mr. Helb bid in the Bull cafe at $4,800 recently after several attempts to sell the property at public sale. Mr. Ring has recently leased for a term of years the Hotel Brooks, which adjoins the Bull cafe, and it is said that he desires to secure the latter in order to enlarge the hotel.

Flames Sweep a Town in Cumberland Valley.

Early Friday morning, about the time that the forest fires in the South Mountain section of the state were being fought, three days before destroying thousands of acres of valuable timber land, a disastrous conflagration in the Cumberland Valley was started which before broke out in Jacksonville, four miles from Carlisle, Cumberland county, The loss amounts to $11,000.

Jacksonville, known also by the name of Churchtown, is a large farming section and the flames were fought with the aid of buckets. Water was drawn from the wells in the neighborhood, but proved of little use to try to remedy matters, that while support is not forthcoming at present, so far as they are concerned, the organization is done.

The instruments, the band will pay the outstanding debt, it is told, and it is believed that it will not be held here in the hope that some one will come to the rescue.

Prepare For Big Wilson Warns

Interim remarks made by President Wilson in his speech at the Associated Press luncheon at the Waldorf-Astoria, New York:

"We deal in the raw material of opinion and, if my servitours have any selfishness, genius ultimately governs the world.

"The nation behind us have been difficult. The times before us are dizzy, to be more efficient, than whatever may be said about the present constitution of the United States it is clear that they are drawn with a view to liberty.

"I am not going to be so presumptuous a thought as that we are ready for anything that may arise (the warring nations), but that we are ready for anything that we are constructing the processes of peace.

"I am not willing to sit with a spirit when I say that our whole force, the force of the unity of America is not the petty desire to get into the war, but the organized power which will make it most effective when the war is over. We cannot be worthy to represent ourselves unless we are ready to represent you, not with us this degree of worthiness. Our thought must be only how we can be most helpful.

"And so think of America before we think of the war, and think of the America may be fit to be Europe's friend when the day of the reconstruction comes. The test of nobility is getting ready to help both sides when the struggle is over.

"The basis of neutrality is not indifference. It is not independence. The basis of neutrality is sympathy with both sides, and the basis of sympathy is spirit and judgment.

"The basis of judgment is disposition to create statesmen in this country who will be ready to act when if we should go to war upon either side there will be a definite, a concrete object in view. We will have no abominable ideal of ignorance.

"Our interest in the sympathy

KINDLY FARMER HELPS RUNAWAYS

Three Youngsters, Caught in Severe Storm, Found Crying by Kindly Countryman. Had Cooked Suckers in Tin Can.

Barefooted and bareheaded, clad only in shirts and in their short garments dripping wet, three lads were picked up near Littlestown late Wednesday afternoon by Constable Amos Palmer, of Union township.

The boys are sons of W. T. Kraft, of Spring Grove, the youngest, George, being 4 years old; Harry, aged 12, and John, aged 14. They left home early Wednesday morning with the intention of going to Union Bridge to visit their grandmother. They had nothing to eat during the day with the exception of some suckers which they caught and cooked in a tin can.

When the storm came up during the afternoon they took shelter in the covered bridge along the pike. After the storm they started toward Littlestown and were overtaken by Mr. Palmer, who, upon testing their story, took them to his home for the night. Next morning he brought them to Littlestown where they were turned over to their parents.

The lads tell several stories as to why they left home, one of which is harsh treatment by the teacher, and another that their parents took the stone Johnnies.

STATE TAKES ON SEWER COMPLAINT

Board of Health Sends Man an Ultimatum. Find Sewerage Not Entirely Satisfactory.

Heads of Two Departments will Terminate their Connection with Local Institution in June. Accept Pantheon Elsewhere.

Announcement is made that Gettysburg will lose the services of two professors in June through their declination to resign for the purpose of accepting positions tendered them. Prof. S. Kirby, head of the department of Civil and Sanitary Engineering, and Dr. Stewart M. Macdonald, who holds the chair of Economics and Political Science, are the two members of the faculty who will leave.

Prof. Kirby came to Gettysburg four years ago and was the first professor to fill the Burnes P. Hauge chair of Civil Engineering. Before coming here he was on the faculty of the Sheffield Scientific School, connected with Yale University, and before that was in the employ of firms that he will become head of the department of Mechanical Drawing and Descriptive Geometry. In the most successful while here and in addition to his activities at college has taken a keen interest in matters in the municipal government of the town.

It was largely through his efforts that Gettysburg had the privilege of the Sheffield Scientific School, and the Kessler Quartet. He was at the head of the Sheffield Scientific Society which recently passed a most successful season. Prof. and Mrs. Kirby will be greatly missed by a large circle of friends.

Dr. Macdonald came to Gettysburg from McGill University, Montreal, Canada, in 1907, where he created chair of Economics and Political Science. He has not announced the plans for the future work which he will next be affiliated. Dr. and Mrs. Macdonald have made a number of friends in the residents of Gettysburg only since last September but they, too, have a large number of friends here who will regret their departure. Mrs. Macdonald is head of the Ladies' Auxiliary of the Country Club which was organized within the past few months and has had a very successful existence.

BASE BALL MONEY GLADLY GIVEN

Committee Meet Ready Response and Financing of Local Team in Blue Ridge League will not be Difficult Problem, they Say.

With the definite news at hand that Hagerstown's entering the Blue Ridge League is a sure thing, Gettysburg fans are going to their preparations for the coming season in good earnest. A term which will do the town ample justice has been signed and the followers of the great national sport are confident that the five other towns in the circuit will have to do some tell hustling to get the better of the locals.

That this enthusiasm is taking a substantial form is shown in the reception being given the subscription committee. It is believed that little trouble will be experienced in raising a fund of $2000 on which to start. The committee has received one $35.00 subscription, and was given promises with three more prospects in view; and sufficient $100.00 promises to make a list of fifty for this amount almost a sure thing. The committee has not yet started to take the small-er gifts but it is believed that the $5.00 subscriptions will be very numerous.

With the fair to be held late in the spring, the picture show benefits, and other means of raising money, it is thought that the securing of the sterling fund will not be difficult in any way. Hanover's list is now well on to $1000 and they have been working for several weeks while Gettysburg's activity is comparatively recent.

The showing which the college team is making is most gratifying to town fans in view of the fact that the majority of the college boys will be held here for the summer season. They have not had any previous local fan in a number of their games and the only department of the sport in which they seemed to be weak has been so well developed, under Coach Plank's direction, that a Susquehanna they tallied eighteen hits and at Bucknell ten, showing that they can not only field but are fully able to take care of themselves in the hit and run columns.

It will take unabated enthusiasm and generosity to start the team properly but the committee state that a continuation of the present feeling will be all that they will ask to be sure a successful season.

BITTEN BY DOG

Littlestown Has Scare. Offending Animal Quickly Killed.

Robert Mehring, a rural mail carrier from the Littlestown office, was bitten by a dog Saturday evening, a while he was walking along one of the streets of that town. The dog was playing with two others and also snapped at Mr. Mehring as he passed. A flesh wound was made and a physician gave the injury immediate attention. The dog is said to have tried to bite several other persons. It was later shot. It is described as a large black and white spotted animal. The owner is not known.

WILL REBUILD

To Replace Buehler Property with New House.

Dr. H. L. Diehl will begin in the very near future to raze the old Edward Buehler property, 30 and 32 Baltimore street, now occupied by his residence and office. He will replace it with a modern three story brick structure, with a store room 17 x 80 feet, and his office on the first floor; and his residence on the second and third stories. W. Riedel property adjoining, and also owned by Dr. Diehl, will remain as at present.

During the change Dr. Diehl will have his offices in his property on Baltimore Hill now occupied by John Robertson.

HAS BROKEN LEG

Painful Injury when Gettysburg Man Falls at his Home.

P. M. Mishler is at his home on Chambersburg street suffering from a fractured leg. Mr. Mishler was walking in the house about two weeks ago when he fell. One of his ankles became very much swollen and it was believed that it had been sprained. On Friday the swelling had abated sufficiently to allow the physician in charge to make a more thorough examination and it was found that a bone was broken. Mr. Mishler is resting as comfortably as can be expected.

HELPFUL HINTS FOR HOUSEWIVES

Dresser and Wardrobe For Use of the Baby.

A woman has designed an entirely new piece of furniture in the shape of a baby dresser and wardrobe, which at least two mothers declare will help them from anything else that has been brought out in a long time. It is said to combine a number of conveniences for the baby. All of the infant's essentials are kept under the mother's eye, so that they are all conveniently within reach of the nurse. The top part is fitted with a mirror, on which it is designed that the baby can self-regard while its clothing is being changed or it is being fed on its knee. These articles are supplied by a rail sufficiently high to prevent tumbles.

Salmon and Rice Loaf.

Grease a bread tin and line with a layer of cooked rice, laying it about an inch thick. It should be warm, so that it may be pliable. Flake the contents of a can of salmon (or use fresh salmon) and lay this in the center of the rice, pouring over enough white sauce, etc., to moisten it, but a layer of rice will cover with buttered paper and bake for an hour in a pan of hot water and in the oven. When cooked turn the loaf out on a buttered platter or serving plate, pour white or egg sauce over it, garnish with hard-boiled eggs in slices or with cress, parsley and a few slices of pickled beets.

Clearing Light Gloves.

To clean light kid gloves dissolve a little of the gloves soak in a saucer with this; take out, rinse gasoline to remove the soap, and squeeze, but let the dirty liquid drip off. Lay on a towel, stretch each end with a dry piece of rag rub down, keeping the glove well in shape and evenly. Constantly change the surface of the rag, for as long as it is used it will be apt to smear them. After this, if the gloves are not quite clean, put them through the same process again and hang in the air. This will need to be performed in a room with a fire or artificial light.

Kitchen Kinks.

Japanned tea trays should not be washed in hot water. If greasy, a little flour rubbed on them will give them a new look. If they are scratched touch with a little olive oil.

If a little salt is put in gasoline clothes that are cleaned will not have the unusual yellow tint removed by gasoline.

Soap jelly is made by shaving a bar of soap and melting it in a manner in boiling water till it becomes thick like jelly. A teaspoonful of borax will soften it.

Nut and Cheese Roast.

Cook two tablespoonfuls of chopped onion in one tablespoonful of butter till tender, stirring often. Add to this one cupful each of grated cheese, chopped English walnuts and soft bread crumbs together and moisten with a little water to which the onion was cooked. Add salt, pepper and the juice of half a lemon. Pour into a shallow baking dish and bake in the oven until brown.

Scald Rhubarb.

Wash and wipe dry the rhubarb. Cut into inch lengths without peeling. Put a layer in the bottom of an earthen baking dish, cover sugar, then repeat this process until sufficient quantity has been used. Cover tightly. Do not add water. Bake one hour and serve cold. This is a delightful dish.

Creamed Celery.

Cut two inch pieces of celery partially in salted water for two minutes. Drain and add sufficient cream sauce to cover. Add a small piece of celery or a pepper pod and salt until the celery is tender. Thicken with cornstarch moistened with cold water and season with salt and pepper.

Raisin Sandwiches.

With one cupful of cooked raisins chop an equal quantity of nut meats. Add to a paste with fresh, sweet butter and spread between toasted crackers or thin slices of brown bread. A dash of lemon juice adds a piquant flavor.

Picking a Chicken.

To pick a young chicken easily after being scalded away it in a piece of burlap and let it steam for three or four hours. Remove the pin feathers will then rub off as easily as the other feathers.

FEW REQUESTING OIL ON STREETS

Highway Committee Sends Force to Springe Avenue, Chambersburg Street Next, Requests Granted in the Order Received.

Only three sections of town have asked for oil on tarvia since the council announced, after their meeting last week, that it would be provided only on the blocks where subscriptions were made to meet part of the expense. The highway committee has some material on hand from last year and another shipment of oil is expected soon. The work will be done in the order in which checks are received.

The business people about Centre Square were the first to respond to their subscription the day after meeting of council. Tarvia B was applied, the work being finished Monday and it is believed that the roadway there will need no further attention this summer. The tarvia is caking, as it should, and forming a solid wearing over the top of the street, so that no dust will accumulate except that which is blown on from other streets.

On Tuesday the residents of Springe avenue formed over to the borough treasury a check for $42 in payment for the oil in that part of the town and the highway force will work at once to sweep the roadway and prepare it for the application. Regular road oil, which has been very successful there in other years, is again being used.

Business men and other residents of the first square of Chambersburg street have been solicited for subscriptions for the oiling of that block. The highway committee fixed the amount required there at $25. It is lower than most places for the reason that the block is not so long as many others, and also because the number of properties brick paving is run well toward the center of the street.

As soon as this work is completed the highway committee will call a meeting to put the force of men on other parts of the town and are ready now to receive applications for the oiling of tarvia. The tarvia is suitable only for the streets that have a solid stone surface and not for portions where it is principally shale or other material. At such places oil will be used.

NEW WIRELESS CAR OF ARMY IS MARVEL.

Can Pass Any Sort of Land Surface and Has Eighty Foot Mast.

A traveling wireless station that can do almost anything but aim up a telegram has been the latest contribution of Uncle Sam's efficient army officers to the defense forces of the country.

Successful experiments just concluded at Fort Myer show that the machine is the best war travel over the fields when necessary, whatever its condition. It had no trouble in the deep corrugations to the highways.

Radio inside of a closed automobile truck, brass and copper wires formed over an arched roof, a knocked down army field wireless tent, a folding table, the necessary antennae is slightly fast high when extended and the highway force are all of light rating that are strapped to one side of the machine in transit.

The wireless outfit has a sending radius of 100 miles under average conditions and an almost illimitable receiving range. It is a great improvement on the old hand operated apparatus that it inherently travel around on the wheels of the motor truck. Moreover, it is not liable to stampede under fire.

The power to operate the sending apparatus is furnished by the truck's own motor and is made available by simply throwing a switch. This is a great improvement over the old hand operated apparatus that was cumbersome. The electric generator is rated at 1½ kilowatts or, roughly, twenty-two "man power."

NELSON ESTATE FOR PUBLIC.

Farm Left as Money and Trust to Buy Home for Aged Men.

William S. Nelson, editor and owner of the Kansas City Star, left a farm of 1,700 acres in Jackson county, Mo., to be a model farm for thirty years to be managed by trustees, the income to be used for stock raising and farming. On the death of Mrs. Nelson, widow of Mr. Kirkwood, the editor's daughter, the management will cease and the farm placed in the hands of a board of trustees.

The trustees are required to set aside for each of the children of Miss Kirkwood, if any, property "of the reasonable value of $100,000." The residue is to be managed by "The William S. Nelson Fund" which will provide for works of arts which will contribute to the enjoyment of the public generally.

REV. MR. BAKER FAVORS SUFFRAGE

Makes Address before Gettysburg Club in Library of the Court House. Gives Various Reasons for Advocating New Measure.

Many arguments for equal suffrage were advanced at the Saturday meeting of the Woman Suffrage Study Club in the Law Library of the Court House when Rev. J. B. Baker, pastor of St. Johns Lutheran church, made the principal address. He said in part:

"It's a long, long way from the stealing of the Sabine wives to the Votes for Women's League, and somehow has shed many hopeless tears and lifted many helpless hands along the way. But the dawn of a better day is at hand. The great, great grandchildren of the twentieth generation of the women who pulled the oars to market, and was sometimes sold to pay the taxes, and often flogged for disobedience, and never trusted with the ballot, will be lucky found in practically every industry and profession in the world and he gets the equivalent of that noise from the little tykes who hang about her skirts.

"She is in the office, the store, the factory, the shop, the mill. Russia has even an aviatrix in her military service and many English women are in training for home defense.

"Because of this intermingling of work and interests the women of our country insist that women should also have the privilege of the ballot. To this we believe they are entitled.

"First, because this is a representative government and the power for the people and by the people and women are people, which not even the most rancid anti will deny.

"Secondly we believe in women's suffrage because women must obey the laws as well as the man and should therefore have a voice in the making of those laws. It is true the alien must do that too but he is denied the ballot and I can't somehow the presumption is that he is prejudiced in favor of his native institutions and foreign governments.

"Thirdly, we believe in woman's suffrage because women must pay taxes and taxation without representation is tyranny. Take Gettysburg as it was when our forefathers threw the English tea into the harbor. Some of the biggest tax payers in Gettysburg are women, they have no more voice in the town's government or the state laws than the heathen Chinese. It's a county jail. Is this fair, is it just? If some of the men who frown on woman's suffrage pay a total of $1,000,000 in taxes this one year they would roar like a bull moose.

"Fourthly, we believe in Woman's Suffrage because the interests of the world will be best conserved by it. The hand that rocks the cradle is the hand that rules the world, and the adage that is partly true and partly false. Lincoln said that all I am, I owe to my mother', but Jesse James was also the son of a Christian mother. It is not a question of heredity but environment.

"A mother's influence is of all roses the sweetest and best. Associate with him through the years but, when the storm of the world begin to lower, the child of many prayers often throws the rose away and rushes into the devil's keep to be brutelized.

"What fourth would be added to the mother's arm if, after her son has left the old home, she could by ballot help to clean the places that are tempting her son to ruin. The women of the Illinois state army of Coxeyites are using every available means to protect the deer from rushing dogs but have not been entirely successful.

JACOBS—KAUFFMAN

Will Reside at Mining Town in Western State.

Miss Mabel A. Kauffman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Emanuel Kauffman of East Berlin, was married to Raymond C. C. Jacobs, of Ely, Nevada, by Rev. Dennis Kauffman, brother of the bride. To this we believe they are entitled.

"First, because this is a representative government and the power for the people and by the people and women are people, which not even the most rancid anti will deny.

"Secondly we believe in women's suffrage because women must obey the laws as well as the man and should therefore have a voice in the making of those laws. It is true the alien must do that too but he is denied the ballot and I can't somehow the presumption is that he is prejudiced in favor of his native institutions and foreign governments.

"Thirdly, we believe in woman's suffrage because women must pay taxes and taxation without representation is tyranny. Take Gettysburg as it was when our forefathers threw the English tea into the harbor. Some of the biggest tax payers in Gettysburg are women, they have no more voice in the town's government or the state laws than the heathen Chinese. It's a county jail. Is this fair, is it just? If some of the men who frown on woman's suffrage pay a total of $1,000,000 in taxes this one year they would roar like a bull moose.

"Fourthly, we believe in Woman's Suffrage because the interests of the world will be best conserved by it. The hand that rocks the cradle is the hand that rules the world, and the adage that is partly true and partly false. Lincoln said that all I am, I owe to my mother', but Jesse James was also the son of a Christian mother. It is not a question of heredity but environment.

"A mother's influence is of all roses the sweetest and best. Associate with him through the years but, when the storm of the world begin to lower, the child of many prayers often throws the rose away and rushes into the devil's keep to be brutelized.

"What fourth would be added to the mother's arm if, after her son has left the old home, she could by ballot help to clean the places that are tempting her son to ruin. The women of the Illinois state army of Coxeyites are using every available means to protect the deer from rushing dogs but have not been entirely successful.

23 DEER ARE SEEN

Deer are unusually plentiful on the South Mountain foothills now. Saturday two bucks and a doe and twenty-three animals roamed near Caledonia park. Wednesday evening a herd of eleven passed in a long time on the peeping outs in the cultivated fields of Greenwood, Gettysburg Inn.

Friday Parent Rangers Thomas and Stull found lying against brushwood in Carbaugh Run east of the Shepard mountain road the doe. The body was partially decomposed. It had washed down from the upper waters. The doctors showed it had been attacked and bitten by dogs and in seeking shelter in the water had died from exhaustion or drowning.

Saturday another mother doed doe was found on driftwood in the Conococheague within the Caledonia park limits, near the Mt. Alto entrance. It, too, had taken to the water for its own safety, driven there by dogs. It had died there in torture within the past week.

The game in the neighborhood of Caledonia are using every available means to protect the deer from marauding dogs but have not been entirely successful.
